

Narrow-mindedness rigid devotion to the law negation of personality castration of the will permitted self-destruction leading personalities of power who bind men by their false humility artists of rhetoric who effectively promote the message and do not forget the children whose actions and words have to come directly from God who shock uproot and catch the unsettled soul whose power comes through repetition of arguments and who nurture obedience who have revelations from the Most High and claim extraordinary authority who are driven by the impulses of their immaturity and cannot stand any opposition who mix up the word of God and the word of men who entice others with their power to be like them but then also people of indifference whose soul has gotten lethargic and whose eyes have become dull who have heard the word of salvation a thousand times but never practiced who don't need a thing and are rich and claim to have knowledge infallible in their eyes and then the men of superficiality for whom eating and drinking is much more important than thinking who are only concerned about the earthly needs and negate everything else who always obey their own cravings being incapable to live the real life

SEPARATION

then the men who are indecisive who do not proceed captured within themselves men of hidden lust and secret lovers of vices or those who sin quite openly for everyone to see or those who are occupied by their demons whose crookedness can be seen from afar and whose faces mirror their fragmented condition who are marked by their immorality bound driven in whom the light of life has become faint and the streams of consciousness narrow who have already descended into the outer courts of hell filled with delusions which they cannot get rid of who are doomed to die and then those who serve death in whom the curse emanates through their eyes and poisons the world men of evil whose soul has already been devoured